
Service to God's people:

the Bishops of the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas

This is the eighth of an 11-part series of bulletin inserts highlighting the life and ministry of the bishops who have served the people of God in the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas. Others will be available throughout the year, leading up to the 150th Diocesan Convention in October.

Bishop Edward Clark Turner Sixth Bishop of Kansas • 1959 - 1981

Bishop Turner was born in Buenos Aires, Argentina, on March 26, 1915, and his family moved to the United States in 1922. He was rector of the Church of the Ascension and Holy Trinity in Pueblo, Colo., from 1944 until he was elected Bishop Coadjutor in 1956.

Bishop Turner was the coadjutor for three years until Bishop Fenner retired, yet he assumed many of the responsibilities of a bishop during those years, at Bishop Fenner's request.

Bishop Turner's first address to the diocese was at the 98th Annual Convention in 1957, with a call to increase the Church Extension Fund to $500,000 through a special campaign. Pledges of more than $600,000 were made by 1959, but by 1965 only $380,209 was received. The original campaign plan of adding a new diocesan office and conference space at Bethany Place never materialized.

To enhance the administration of the diocese, Bishop Turner oversaw an extensive revision of the constitution and diocesan canons and named an Archdeacon as chief administrator. He also

Bishop Edward C. Turner

over, please

Service to God's people:

the Bishops of the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas

This is the eighth of an 11-part series of bulletin inserts highlighting the life and ministry of the bishops who have served the people of God in the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas. Others will be available throughout the year, leading up to the 150th Diocesan Convention in October.

Bishop Edward Clark Turner Sixth Bishop of Kansas • 1959 - 1981

Bishop Turner was born in Buenos Aires, Argentina, on March 26, 1915, and his family moved to the United States in 1922. He was rector of the Church of the Ascension and Holy Trinity in Pueblo, Colo., from 1944 until he was elected Bishop Coadjutor in 1956.

Bishop Turner was the coadjutor for three years until Bishop Fenner retired, yet he assumed many of the responsibilities of a bishop during those years, at Bishop Fenner's request.

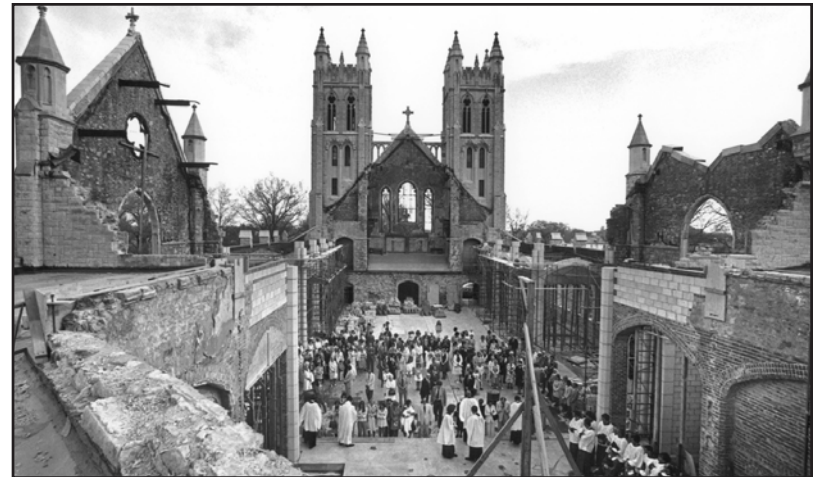

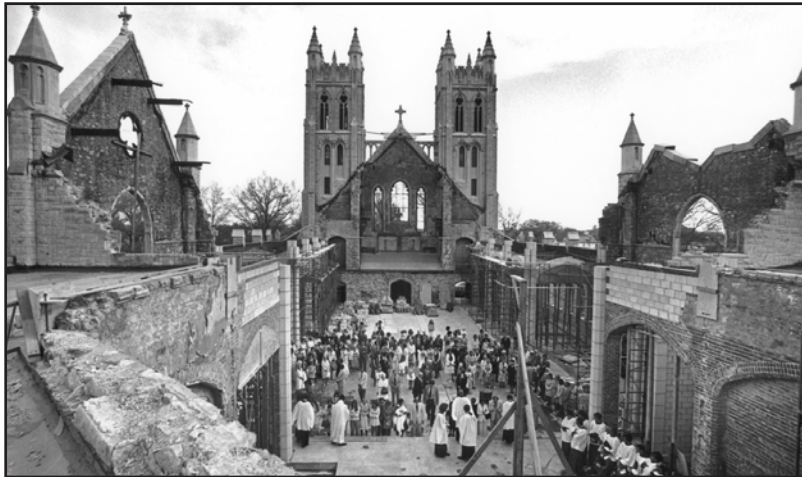

Bishop Turner's first address to the diocese was at the 98th Annual Convention in 1957, with a call to increase the Church Extension Fund to $500,000 through a special campaign. Pledges of more than $600,000 were made by 1959, but by 1965 only $380,209 was received. The original campaign plan of adding a new diocesan office and conference space at Bethany Place never materialized.

To enhance the administration of the diocese, Bishop Turner oversaw an extensive revision of the constitution and diocesan canons and named an Archdeacon as chief administrator. He also

Bishop Edward C. Turner

over, please

*The congregation of Grace Cathedral, Topeka, holds a small service in the burned-out cathedral shell on Easter Day, 1976, just months after the Nov. 26, 1975, arson fire that destroyed the building. The rebuilt cathedral was dedicated on Oct. 1, 1978.
Photo courtesy of Grace Cathedral*

*The congregation of Grace Cathedral, Topeka, holds a small service in the burned-out cathedral shell on Easter Day, 1976, just months after the Nov. 26, 1975, arson fire that destroyed the building. The rebuilt cathedral was dedicated on Oct. 1, 1978.
Photo courtesy of Grace Cathedral*

expanded ministry on college campuses. During his tenure 11 new churches were started, but even that didn't stem the tide of declining membership that started in the tumultuous 1960s and 1970s.

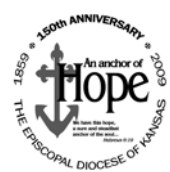

expanded ministry on college campuses. During his tenure 11 new churches were started, but even that didn't stem the tide of declining membership that started in the tumultuous 1960s and 1970s.

Bishop Turner's episcopacy saw devastation in Topeka following a tornado in 1966 and the arson fire that destroyed Grace Cathedral on Nov. 26, 1975. Bishop Turner and the congregation celebrated "Restoration Sunday" in the newly rebuilt cathedral on Oct. 1, 1978, with a procession that included many of the people who helped construct the new building.

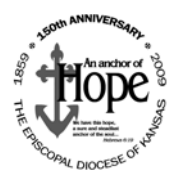

Bishop Turner's episcopacy saw devastation in Topeka following a tornado in 1966 and the arson fire that destroyed Grace Cathedral on Nov. 26, 1975. Bishop Turner and the congregation celebrated "Restoration Sunday" in the newly rebuilt cathedral on Oct. 1, 1978, with a procession that included many of the people who helped construct the new building.

Preparing for retirement, Bishop Turner called for an election of a new bishop. He ended his episcopacy on the 25th anniversary of his consecration when his successor, Bishop Richard Grein, was consecrated on May 22, 1981. Bishop Turner and his wife, Virginia, retired to Colorado, where he died on June 21, 1997.

Preparing for retirement, Bishop Turner called for an election of a new bishop. He ended his episcopacy on the 25th anniversary of his consecration when his successor, Bishop Richard Grein, was consecrated on May 22, 1981. Bishop Turner and his wife, Virginia, retired to Colorado, where he died on June 21, 1997.

This bulletin insert series, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas, was written by Lisa Adams of the Community Life Committee, with production by the Office of Communications of the Diocese of Kansas.

This bulletin insert series, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Episcopal Diocese of Kansas, was written by Lisa Adams of the Community Life Committee, with production by the Office of Communications of the Diocese of Kansas.